Alexander	J	18 May 1900 pg 5
-----------	---	------------------

Instantly Killed by Cars.
 J. Alexander, blacksmith for the State Lumber Co., was struck by the cars and instantly killed Tuesday afternoon near La Salle. The switch engine had been gathering up cars along the road and was returning to Kallispell pushing ten cars ahead. Switchman C. E. Quirt was on the front car, and near La Salle saw a man lying at the side of the track with his head against the rail. He gave the signal to stop, but before the train could be brought a standstill the break beam had struck Alexander's head, and the entire train passed over him. He was instantly killed. It is supposed that Alexander was intoxicated, and had laid down by the track and gone to sleep. The body was brought to Kallispell for burial. The switching crew does not seem to be to blame for the accident which was unavoidable under the circumstances.

Anderson	Gus	10 Aug 1900 pg 5

A Case of Suicide.
 Last Sunday a man passing the cabin of Gus M. Anderson, four miles northwest of Columbia Falls, had his attention attracted by the buzzing of the flies about the windows. Looking through the window he saw the body of Anderson lying on a bed. The cabin door was firmly fastened, and he went to Columbia Falls and telegraphed the facts to Coroner McMahon, who went to Columbia Falls that night, and the following morning, accompanied by friends of Anderson, went to the cabin. The door was broken in and an examination made. It was found that Anderson had locked the door, undressed and gone to bed, and then had shot himself twice in the head, the balls entering the base of the skull. Two shells in his revolver had apparently been tried and failed to explode. He had apparently been dead for five or six days, and it was thought best not to attempt to take the body to Columbia Falls over the rough trail, and it was buried near the cabin.
 Anderson lived a secluded life at the cabin, making a precarious living picking berries and trapping. He had been at Columbia Falls about ten days before his body was discovered. Of his family nothing more is known than that he has two brothers living in Canada, one of them at Grand Forks, B. C.

Babcock Mrs 6 Apr 1900 pg 5

Mrs. Babcock, an old lady who came to Kalispell from Deer Lodge about three weeks ago bringing six small grand-children with her, died at the Hotel Kalispell the first of the week. She was sick when she arrived, and never was able to leave her bed after arriving. Chairman Griffin, of the board of commissioners telegraphed to the chairman of the Deer Lodge board asking if his county would do anything toward paying the expense of burial, and returning the children to their home at Deer Lodge, but he replied that they would do nothing. They were returned at the expense of this county.

Ford

John

2 Feb 1900 pg 5

Blown to Pieces.

John Ford, who was working with an extra gang getting out rock in Bad Rock canyon, was blown to pieces by dynamite Tuesday morning. Ford was thawing the dynamite getting ready for doing some blasting, and just how the accident occurred will never be known. Another man of the crew had been with him only a moment before the accident and noticed that the sticks were getting soft. He left Ford and had gone a short distance when the explosion occurred. He was nearly knocked over himself, and when he turned he found that Ford's body had been literally blown to pieces. The fragments of the body were gathered up and sent to Kalispell and were buried by undertaker McMahon.

Ford came here from Priest River, Idaho, a short time ago, and had been working only a few days. So far as known he had no relatives or acquaintances here.

Foy

John H

9 Nov 1900 pg 5

A Fatal Accident

John M. Foy, one of the oldest and best known residents of the valley was thrown from his buggy and killed Monday evening. No one saw the accident, but it is believed to have occurred a little after seven o'clock. At that time he was seen driving toward the railroad crossing near the hospital, and it is supposed his team became frightened and ran away. They turned toward the woods, and in crossing a place where a hole had been dug he was thrown out over the front of the buggy, and apparently one of the horses kicked him as he fell, as the imprint of the hoof was plainly visible on his temple and face. One jaw was dislocated, but there was no other mark of external injury. He was not discovered until next morning, when life was entirely gone.

The team from where the accident occurred ran through the railroad cut and passed the power house, and followed the Columbia Falls road as far as the Flathead Valley Lumber Co's mill.

Mr. Foy was born in Pennsylvania 66 years ago, and came to the Flathead in 1883 from Wyoming. He has been a resident of the valley ever since. He leaves a widow, three sons and five daughters, all residents of this county except two daughters. The time for the funeral has not been determined on, but will occur soon after the arrival of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Brown, who has been in Washington, and of his brother, who is coming from Ogden, Utah.

Gilligan Mrs Elizabeth 31 Aug 1900 pg 5

Deaths.
Mrs. Elizabeth Gilligan died at her home in this city Sunday evening after a long and painful illness. Since her return from Spokane, several weeks ago, all hope of Mrs. Gilligan's recovery from the disease, cancer of the stomach, that afflicted her, had been given up. The funeral occurred from the Catholic church Tuesday morning, and was largely attended by the friends of the deceased and her family.

Wm. W. Knapp, a young man

Gilkey Robert 5 Oct 1900 pg 5

A Sad Accident.
Rex, the nine years old son of R. M. Gilkey met with his death in a frightful manner last Friday evening. He had gone to a neighbor's to ride a horse. He had ridden the horse before, and was cautioned to be careful, but there was no thought of accident. The horse is supposed to have become frightened, and Rex was thrown from the saddle, one foot catching in the stirrup as he fell. The terrified horse ran about the prairie, the boy's head striking the ground or the horse's feet at every leap. When found he was unconscious, but not greatly bruised externally, though his brain had evidently been injured by the terrific pounding he had received. He lingered for thirty-six hours, dying early Sunday morning.

5 Oct 1900 pg 5

Card of Thanks.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Gilkey wish to return their sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly extended their sympathy and assistance at the time of the death of their son Rex.

Goodrich

Fred

16 Nov 1900 pg 5

WRECK AT BELTON

Fireman Fred Goodrich
Scalded to Death.

Fred Goodrich, a fireman on the Great Northern lost his life in a collision between passenger trains No. 4 and the second section of No. 3 at Belton last night.

The west bound train was running in two sections, and the second section had orders to meet No. 4 at Belton. The latter train had taken the side track, and when second No. 3 came around the curve beyond the station it was given the signal to come ahead. The switch light was out and it was not known that the switch was open until the engine reached it and turned in on the side track. The enginemen on No. 3 jumped when it was seen that collision was inevitable, and they escaped with a few scratches. Goodrich, fireman on No. 4, in trying to jump was caught between the engine and tender as the crash came, and could not escape. The collision broke some of the steam pipes, and it was impossible for any one to get near him in the cloud of scalding steam, and he was soon scalded to death.

No other person on either train was injured, and not much damage was done. The pilots on the engines were smashed up, and the trucks on the baggage car on No. 3 left the track. Fortunately No. 3 was running very slow at the time, or there would have been a bad accident.

It is not yet known how the switch came to be open. The switch light had gone out, and there was nothing to show that everything was not all right. There is a good deal of talk as to who is responsible for it, but nothing certain will be known until an investigation has been made.

The body of Goodrich was brought to Kalispell on No. 3.

Gorman

Wm E

25 May 1900 pg 5

Wm. E. Gorman, a freight conductor, died at his home in the west part of town, Monday night, of Bright's disease. The body was sent to Milwaukee Tuesday night for burial.

Hickey James 23 Mar 1900 pg 5

Jas. Hickey, proprietor of the Pioneer House, died yesterday evening after an illness of several weeks. The funeral will occur today. In the absence of Father Gallagher a priest who was going through on one of the trains last night, stopped off to conduct the funeral exercises.

Jefferson John 9 Feb 1900 pg 5

Killed by the Cars.
A man who gave the name of John Jefferson fell under the wheels of a train he was attempting to board at Sterling early yesterday morning and had both legs badly crushed. Dr. Reed was taken to Sterling on a special and brought the injured man to Kalispell. Both legs were amputated, and every effort was made to save the unfortunate man's life, but the shock and the loss of blood had been too great, and he died last night. No one saw the accident, but Jefferson said he had attempted to get on a car as the train was pulling up to the water tank, and while the train was still in motion. He slipped and fell under the wheels. It is uncertain whether he gave his real name, as he was very reticent about his affairs, and beyond saying that his home was in England, and that he did not wish his people to know anything about the accident, he talked very little. He was buried this morning.

Kavanaugh JJ 5 Oct 1900 pg 5

J. J. Kavanaugh, formerly dispatcher at the Kalispell office, died on Wednesday at Helena of heart failure. The funeral occurred today at Madison, Wisconsin, where his parents live.

Kellenberger Jacob

16 Mar 1900 pg 5

A Sudden Death.

Jacob Kellenberger, a man about fifty years old, fell to the sidewalk on Second street west of the post-office on Saturday, and died before help could reach him. Kellenberger has long been a sufferer from a severe case of asthma. He had come in Saturday from H. Bamberger's, where he had been staying for some time, to get medicine. On his way from the Conrad house to the post-office he was attacked with a hemorrhage that caused his death in a few moments. The funeral occurred Sunday. So far as is known Kellenberger had no relatives in this country.

Klenck Marion

5 Jan 1900

Died.

Marion, the ten years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Klenck, died Wednesday morning of the dread disease, diphtheria. She had been been sick but a few days, and the nature of the disease and the strict quarantine of the residence, prevented the friends of the family from rendering the kind offices they would have been so ready to extend. Her death brings sorrow to more than her own home, as she was so well known and a favorite in many families in Kalispell. To the stricken parents the community extends its heartfelt sympathy.

Knapton Wm W

31 Aug 1900 pg 5

Wm. W. Knapton, a young man who had been working at Reed's mill for some time, died at the hospital Wednesday night of typhoid fever. He belonged to the order of the Maccabees, and the local lodge took charge of the body and shipped it to Alexandria, Minnesota, where Knapton's people live.

7 Sep 1900 pg 5

The little baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Larter died this morning of heart failure.

Lerch

August

17 Aug 1900 pg 5

Accidentally Killed.

August Lerch, a nephew of Lawrence Firestein, of Bad Rock, was accidentally killed last Friday evening while hunting with Edward Turn and another lad. The boys had been using a gun that was in bad order, the hammer being hard to lower, and often catching. The boys had shot a duck, and were sitting on a log after getting it out of the pond. Turn was smoking, and his gun was lying across his knee pointing toward Lerch, who reached over to take hold of the pipe in Turn's mouth. Turn threw his head back and the gun slipped, the hammer catching in his clothing, and it was discharged, the charge entering the body of Lerch. He was taken home as quickly as possible, but nothing could be done for him, and he died the next morning. The funeral occurred Sunday afternoon from the Catholic church.

Libby

Nelson

27 Dec 1900 pg 5

Deaths.

Nelson Libby died at his home, six miles south of Kalispell, last Friday night. He had been around as usual during the day, and to all appearances was enjoying his usual health, which for a man of his advanced age had been very good. Shortly after he retired Mrs. Libby heard him breathing heavily and gasping, and called to him. Getting no response she hastened to him and found that he was dying, and he only lived a few moments after she reached him. The funeral occurred Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Libby came to the valley about two years ago and bought the place where he was living. He leaves a widow and two children, a son who was living with him, and a daughter, Mrs. Fairall, who lives at Iowa City, Iowa. He was 76 years old, and was born at Portland, Maine.

Lindlahr

Charles

23 Nov 1900 pg 5

Charles Lindlahr Dead.

Charles Lindlahr, one of the oldest and best known residents of Kalispell, died yesterday morning of typhoid fever, after a long illness.

Mr. Lindlahr came to Kalispell from Marysville nine years ago, and has been one of the successful business men of the town up to the time of his death. He was about 34 years old. He was married two and a half years ago, and his widow, formerly Miss Maggie Curran, and an infant child, survive him.

The funeral will occur Sunday afternoon at two o'clock from the family residence.

30 Nov 1900 pg 5

Funeral of Charles Lindlahr.

The funeral of Charles Lindlahr, which occurred Sunday afternoon, brought out a great many people from the town and from different parts of the valley. The funeral procession from the residence to the church was led by the members of Kalispell Lodge, K. of P., of which Mr. Lindlahr had been a member, and extended for blocks.

The services were held in the Catholic church, the funeral sermon being preached by Father Gallagher. The interment was in the Demersville cemetery.

Lynch

M H

16 Mar 1900 pg 5

Killed by the Cars.

M. H. Lynch was run over by the cars and instantly killed near Richards' mill last Saturday afternoon. Lynch had been working at the mill and had started to come to Kalispell, walking down the railroad track. The switch engine which had been gathering up cars of lumber was pushing four cars ahead of it. The conductor and brakeman were riding on the first car, and when the train was within a short distance of him, Lynch, who had been walking outside, stepped to the middle of the track. They shouted to him to warn him, but as he paid no attention to them the brakeman started to set the brakes and the conductor gave the engineer the signal to stop. Before the train could be stopped Lynch was struck, knocked down and the four cars and engine passed over his body. He was dead when the train crew reached him. Lynch was almost entirely dead, and his walking on the track without keeping a careful watch for trains is unexplainable. He leaves a wife and four children. Justice Sullivan, acting in the absence of the coroner, held the inquest, and exonerated the train crew from any blame in the matter.

Martin

Victor Kevin

3 Aug 1900 pg 5

DIED.—On Sunday, July 29, Victor Kevin, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Martin.

McNally

Edward

20 Apr 1900 pg 5

Edward McNally, who is supposed to have been stealing a ride on No. 4, met with a fatal accident at Essex Tuesday night. He was struck on the head by the timbers of the coal chute and knocked from the train and run over, his body being badly crushed. He was sent to Kalispell on a freight the following morning, but died before the train got here. His mother, at Rochester, N. Y., was notified of the accident, but she telegraphed to have the body buried here.

McNiece

Thomas G

30 Nov 1900 pg 5

Dr. McNiece is Dead.

Thomas G. McNiece died last evening at the residence of James Broderick, after a five weeks struggle with typhoid fever.

Although Doctor McNiece had been a resident of Kalispell less than six months, the announcement of his death is a shock to the community, which in that time had learned to respect and admire him, and to the many warm friends he had gained here it comes as a personal loss. His is a peculiarly sad death, cutting off at its start what promised to be an honorable career in his chosen profession. He was a physician by nature as well as by choice, and possessed the qualities and ability that make the successful physician.

Thomas G. McNiece was born in Corsonby, near Ottawa, Ontario, in June 1876, and was but little more than twenty-four years old at the time of his death. His early education was gained at his home, and his collegiate education at Ottawa. On the completion of his collegiate course he entered the McGill medical college, and last spring graduated from there with the highest honors, at the head of a large class. He came to Kalispell in June, and soon after began the practice of medicine in partnership with Dr. A. D. Macdonald. He leaves three brothers and two sisters surviving him. One of the brothers, Professor James McNiece, of Welland, is in Kalispell, and will accompany the remains to their last resting place at Corsonby. A few weeks ago, and just before he was taken ill, Doctor McNiece joined the local lodge of Woodmen, which will act as an escort to his body to the train tomorrow night.

Pomeroy Mabel 13 Jul 1900 pg 5

Mabel, the eldest daughter of Judge and Mrs. C. W. Pomeroy, died very suddenly Sunday evening. For a long time she has been afflicted with occasional attacks of epilepsy, and it was following one of these attacks that her death occurred so unexpectedly that a physician could not be summoned. With the exception of this disease she was an unusually healthy and active child, with an affectionate and kindly nature that made her a favorite with all who knew her. The funeral exercises were conducted at the residence Tuesday morning by Rev. R. M. Craven. The entire community extends its sympathy to the afflicted parents.

13 Jul 1900 pg 5

Resolutions of Sympathy.
At a meeting of the bar association Monday the following resolutions were adopted and presented in the district court:
Whereas, The bar of Flathead county have heard with profound sorrow of the death of Mabel, daughter of our brother, Charles W. Pomeroy, it is
Resolved, That in their hour of bereavement we extend to our said brother and his family our heartfelt sympathy and condolence; and it is further
Resolved, that the committee having these resolutions in charge request the court at the opening thereof on Monday, the 9th day of July, 1900, to spread these resolutions on its minutes, and that as a further mark of respect the business of said court be suspended for that day.

Poss dau of C H 16 Mar 1900 pg 5

Father J. H. van de Ven came in from Sprague, Washington, last week to conduct the funeral exercises of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Poss at Columbia Falls. Father Gallagher is still ill in the hospital at Butte, and on receipt of a telegram Father van de Ven joined Mr. and Mrs. Poss at Spokane on their sad homeward journey from California, where they had taken their daughter, hoping that she might be restored to health under its more genial skies.

Reed Charles 6 Apr 1900 pg 5

Died.
Mr. Charles Reed, father of H. W. Reed, died at the hospital Wednesday in consequence of an attack of grippe, which later developed into pneumonia. His great age, 81 years, made his recovery doubtful from the first, and he steadily sank from the time he was taken sick. The funeral occurred yesterday from his late residence in the northwest part of town, and the interment at the Spring Creek cemetery.

Roberts Malvina Stacey 12 Jan 1900 pg 5

There was a report in Kalispell the past week that Mrs. J. P. Roberts, formerly Molina Stacey, died in Seattle last week. Her friends here will be glad to know that the report was a mistake, the foundation for it being that she had been very ill for some time with typhoid fever. A gentleman who returned from Seattle this week says that he saw Mrs. Roberts, and that she is rapidly recovering.

Rost Christina 4 May 1900 pg 5

21 Sep 1900 pg 5

Mrs. E. A. Steere Gone.

On last Saturday came the sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. E. A. Steere at Taylor Falls, Minn. During the past year Mrs. Steere suffered a severe illness and had gone to St. Paul for treatment. The physicians gave no hope of her recovery and her friends here have awaited with keen sorrow the news that came from time to time of her gradual failure of strength.

Mrs. Steere was bright and companionable in society, quiet and womanly in bearing, and a homemaker who will be greatly missed by her husband and little son and daughter.

Mr. Steere has the sincere sympathy of his many friends in Kalispell.

Services in memory of Mrs. E. A. Steere, formerly a member of the church, were held at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. J. E. Day, preached an eloquent sermon dwelling on the affection with which Mrs. Steere had been regarded by all her former church associates, and the beauty and nobility of her character. The church had been beautifully decorated for the occasion by the ladies of the Eastern Star, and the music was given by a special choir.

Swanson

Charles

2 Feb 1900 pg 5

Charles J. Swanson Dead.

Charles J. Swanson, formerly of Kalispell, was accidentally killed at Fletcher, Idaho, on January 18th. Mrs. Swanson sends the Inter Lake the following obituary notice.

On Jan. 18, 1900, at 8:30 a. m. while Chas. J. Swanson formerly of Kalispell, Mont. was making a trial run with his portable chop mill at his home near Fletcher, Ida, preparatory to travelling with it, the drive belt flew off, and the horses so suddenly released from the strain of pulling started to run away on the horse-power. Mr. Swanson taking a hand spike, thrust it under the drive pulley to brake the speed. The sudden shock wrenched the pulley weighing about 300 lbs. from its bearings throwing it several feet in the air and knocking Mr. Swanson to his back; before he could regain his feet the pulley descended striking him squarely in the face pinning him to the ground and fearfully mangling the face. He passed away at 4. 15 P. M. of the same day without regaining consciousness leaving a wife and six children to mourn his loss. Mr. Swanson was born in Batavia, Ill., July 6, 1857, and died at Fletcher, Ida., Jan. 18, 1900, aged 42 years, 6 months and 12 days. He died rich in the faith and knowledge of the Lord Jesus, and although we do most sincerely mourn the loss of our departed brother, we would not call him from his rich reward.

Therriault Anton 9 Nov 1900 pg 5

Antoine Therriault Dead.
The community was shocked when it learned Monday of the sudden death of Antoine Therriault, that occurred at Tobacco Plains on Saturday last. Mr. Therriault had been slightly ailing for some time, and an attack of tonsillitis had somewhat enfeebled him, but he was not seriously ill, and no fear was felt. On Saturday his heart suddenly and without warning failed to act, and in a few minutes he was dead. The body was brought down the Kootenai to Jennings by boat, and to Kalispell on the train. The funeral occurred Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the lodge room under the direction of Tamarack Camp, M. W. A. Antoine Therriault was born at Grand Isle, Aroostook County, Maine, December 12th, 1867. In 1884 he came to the Flathead with his brothers Henry and Charles

Wallace Robert 29 Jun 1900 pg 5

A Pioneer Gone.
Robert Wallace, one of the oldest residents of the valley, died at his home on the east side on Monday of last week. He was taken with quick consumption a short time ago, and failed rapidly. The funeral occurred at the Fairview cemetery on Tuesday, the services being conducted by the Rev. P. C. Glendenning. Mr. Wallace was born in County Down, Ireland, 74 years ago, and had been a resident of the Flathead for 17 years, coming here in 1883 when the valley was still almost as nature had left it. He leaves two children: a son, W. J. Wallace, and a daughter, Mrs. M. Wilson, both of whom live on the east side.

Indian

23 Nov 1900 pg 5

A half breed Indian who had been run down by a snow plow near Browning, was brought in on No. 3 last night for surgical attention, but died of his injuries soon after being taken from the train. From all that can be learned he was walking on the track and was caught by the rotary in a cut where there was no chance for him to get out. One leg was badly crushed and he was hurt about the head. It is reported that the accident was reported to the government physician at the Indian agency, but he refused to take charge of the case, and the railroad company had him brought here. The Indian agent at Browning has been telegraphed the facts, and asked what is to be done with the body, but no answer has yet been received.

30 Nov 1900 pg 5

The Indian, whose death in consequence of injuries received by being struck by the rotary at Browning, was mentioned last week, was something of a white elephant on the hands of Coroner McMahon. The Indian agent at Browning refused to do anything about him on the plea that his business was to look after live Indians, not dead ones. The railroad company would do nothing, because he was a trespasser, and not a passenger, at the time he was killed, and the company was not responsible. The Flathead county commissioners refused to bury him, as he did not belong here, and the Teton commissioners declined to accept any dead Indians. Mr. McMahon finally had to bury him himself.

Four Japanese

28 Dec 1900 pg 5

An accident occurred near Browning last night in which four Japs were killed and one injured. A force of men were working after hours and it had become dark. A work train backed around a curve into a cut bank, and there being no light at the back end of the train they had no sight or warning as it came upon them.
