JNO. L. HARTT

Information has been received in Libby that John L. Hartt died at the Lane hospital in San Francisco last Thursday night. Mr. Hartt had been ill for a long time before going to the Lane hospital and was confined in that institution for many months, making a hard fight against impossible odds.

Mr. Hartt was one of the old-timers in the Libby district, being connected with the mining industry here, and was a large factor in the growth and development of what is now Lincoln county.

Personally Mr. Hartt was one of the most charming of men. His friends were legion, and his rule of conduct was such that he enjoyed the confidence of those who came in contact with him and commanded the respect of all.

He was a high-minded gentleman, of splendid mental attainments, a delightful companion and a true friend. In the death of John L. Hartt this section of Montana lost an invaluable citizen, and all join in tending to his family their deepest sympathy in their loss.

Mr. Hartt was unmarried. He leaves several sisters and a brother, Jas. T. Hartt of Kalispell, and a great number of warm personal friends to mourn his death.—Libby News.
