Burch, to which union were born two children, a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Weaver, and a son, Arthur Burch, Jr. Mrs. Burch came to Demersville in 1891, moved to Columbia Falls for a short time, and then settled in Kallispell in 1895, making this city her home since that time. She was active in religious affairs joining the Methodist church in 1898. She was active in the missionary societies of the church, and took a leading part in the work of the ladies' aid society, being president for several years. She believed in the Christian way of life and according to her light tried to serve the Master. Many words of tribute are spoken of her: She was a wonderful wife and mother and beyond that, loved humanity. Thus her circle of friends is wide. She made friends easily, someone having said that she never met a stranger. In the later years sickness and suffering came but she fought gallantly and suffered patiently, ever looking forward to the promised land beyond. A wife, a mother, and a friend and a good citizen is gone, but still her influence lives on.
