FUNERALS

JOHN T. BLOSE

Funeral services were held at the Waggener & Campbell chapel today for John T. Blose, another of the rapidly disappearing pioneers of the Flathead. Mr. Blose died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. Clair Williams at Couer d'Alene, Idaho. He had been ill for three years, and with his wife, who had been an invalid for some time, was taken to the home of his daughter last May.

Obituary

Mr. Blose had been a resident of the Flathead for 45 years. He was born at Saltsburg, Pennsylvania in June, 1856, and he started to earn his own living at the age of 11, a few years after his father's death. He worked in the steel mills and oil fields of Pennsylvania, then went west with the early pioneers. He joined construction crews in the building of the Santa Fe railroad into California, and then came to the coast and headed into Montana to meet the N. P. railroad, which was being built west. He finally located at Mill creek near Anaconda and while there, married Belle C. Irwin in March, 1888. She was from his home town in Pennsylvania. Soon after their marriage they came to the Flathead where Mr. Blose took up a homestead two and half miles north of Kalispell, which had not yet then been started. They came into the river via Flathead lake and the river to Demersville, which was then a booming frontier town and the gateway to the Flathead. Mr. Blose farmed extensively and in 1905 retired and moved to Kalispell which has since been the family home. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge and for many years was active in its affairs.

He is survived by his widow; daughter, Minnie A. Williams, and six grandchildren. His son, Charles, died April 1, 1933.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT BILLINGS FOR DANIEL BOYLE

(Special to Inter-Lake)

Billings, Sept. 11.—Funeral services were held here Sunday under Masonic auspices for Daniel Boyle, 78, who died at his home September 7, after two years of failing health. Burial was in the Billings cemetery.

Mr. Boyle was born in Pennsylvania. He began his railway service at the age of 13, when he was employed by the Erie road as water boy. He rose from section foreman at 19, to be successively superintendent of construction, road master, trainmaster, assistant to the superintendent, division superintendent and general superintendent. He came to Montana in the early eighties, as a member of the engineering department when construction of the Northern Pacific was begun. He had resided in the state ever since. In 1908, when he was a division superintendent for the Northern Pacific, he was elected state railroad commissioner, and served in that capacity until 1932, with the exception of the two years of 1915 and 1916. Failing health compelled his resignation in November, 1932. During his long career as a railroad man and as a public official, Mr. Boyle was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. He was a charter member of the Billings lodge of Elks and was affiliated with the Masonic Blue lodge of the Masons of Livingston, and with the Scottish Rite bodies and Algeria Shrine of Helena. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Sarah Boyle, and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Rixon, both residing here, and a brother, Dennis Boyle of Livingston.
