Rider Dies
In Plunge
Over Cliff

11 July 1972
COLUMBUS (AP) — Robert Farmer, 19, Billings, was killed Tuesday when his motorcycle plunged off a 900-foot cliff at Mystic Lake near here.

Paul Kover, Stillwater County sheriff, said Farmer was riding a trail bike along the path between the lake dam and the Montana Power Co. plant when he plunged over the cliff and landed on an outcropping about 500 feet from the top.

Kover said pieces of the motorcycle were scattered widely in the area.

The accident will not be counted as a highway fatality because it did not occur on a state or county road.
