Intersection accident claims the lives of mother, daughter

15 May 1981

By MIKE HOEFT
Inter Lake Staff Writer

COLUMBIA FALLS — A mother and daughter from Fortine were killed Friday night when two vehicles collided at the intersection of Montana 40 and LaSalle Road.

A 1981 Subaru station wagon driven by Frances Hannay, 43, was northbound on LaSalle Road about 6 p.m., said the Montana Highway Patrol.

At the intersection, she made a left turn and apparently pulled into the path of an eastbound Ford pickup. Both vehicles collided and came to rest near the Blue Moon Nite Club parking lot.

Killed were Mrs. Hannay and her 21-year-old daughter, Kaylene Horton, who had just arrived from Alaska for a visit. Mrs. Horton's 3-month-old son, Joshua, was listed in stable condition Saturday at Kalispell Regional Hospital.

The driver of the other vehicle was Karen Biggs, 24, of Whitefish. She and her two children — 4-year-old David and 6-year-old Rebekah — were treated at North Valley Hospital and then released.

The deaths move the state's 1981 highway toll to 107, compared with 95 through May 17, 1980.

Mrs. Hannay was pronounced dead at the scene. Mrs. Horton was rushed by ALERT air ambulance, but was dead on arrival at Kalispell Regional Hospital.

A police car took Joshua Horton to North Valley Hospital and Columbia Falls Medic 8 also transported the Biggs family to the Whitefish hospital.

Mrs. Hannay was born Jan. 14, 1938, in Ottawa, Kan., a daughter of Richard and Faye Pointer. She attended school and graduated from the Princeton High School in Kansas. She then attended the Stormont-Vail School of Nursing in Topeka, Kan. She was married to James M. Hannay III Sept. 4, 1958, in Topeka, Kan. She and her family moved to Fortine in 1973 where they have made their home since.

She was a member of the Fortine Community Church, Christian Women's Club of Eureka, an active member of the prayer group chain in the Fortine and Eureka area and was also active in 4-H work.

She is survived by her husband, James; three sons, James IV, Matthew and John, all of Fortine; a grandson, Joshua James Horton, Fortine; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pointer, Ottawa, Kan., and two brothers, Roy Pointer, Bloomsburgh, Pa., and Earl Pointer, Topeka, Kan.

Kaylene Klair Horton was born

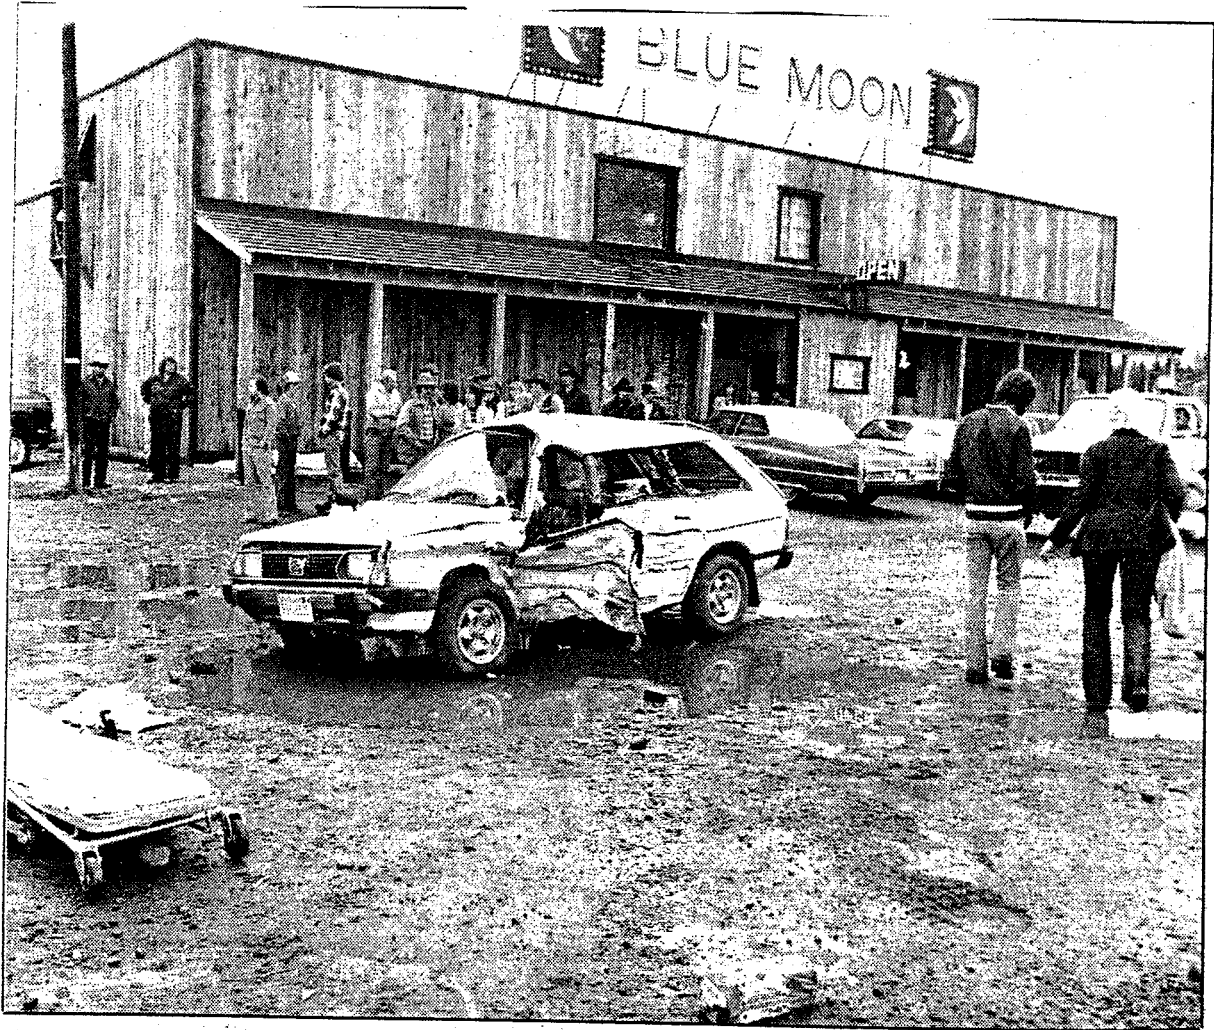

May 19, 1959, in Topeka, Kan. a daughter of James and Frances Hannay.

Her early schooling was in Topeka and later Fortine, and she graduated in 1978 from Lincoln County High School in Eureka. She attended the University of Montana in Missoula for two years. She married Donald James Horton Sept. 27, 1980, in Fortine.

She was a member of the Fortine Community Church and she is survived by her husband, Donald; one son, Joshua James, 3 months; three brothers, James IV, Matthew and John Hannay, all of Fortine; her father, James Hannay III, Fortine; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pointer, Ottawa, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. James Hannay II, Topeka, Kan.

Services will be conducted from the Fortine Community Church in Fortine Tuesday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Donald Smith officiating. Burial will be in the Fortine Cemetery. Caskets will be closed. Austin Funeral Home will direct the services.
