John H. Hanger, 101

John H. Hanger, 101, died Nov. 1, 1994, at his home in Missoula.

He was born Nov. 21, 1892, in Armington, Ill., to Charles B. and Isabel A. Bowles Hanger. He attended the public schools in Armington and graduated from Armington High School. He taught in a one-room schoolhouse in the Boynton and Bloomingdale schools. He enjoyed teaching and enrolled at the University of Michigan but could not finish his schooling as he had to return home to help his father on the farm.

In 1917, John and Marie E. Hieronymus were married and shortly after they moved with relatives, the Carr and Dixon families, to Kalispell. The women and children came by train and the men and boys came by freight train with all their possessions, livestock, machinery and household belongings.

A Carr-Hanger quartet was soon formed and they sang at many functions in the Flathead Valley, traveling by horse and buggy. While the cousins sang, they were accompanied on the piano by John's sister, Louise, who still resides in Kalispell.

In 1918, John enlisted in the Army and was sent to France, where he participated in the Arrogon Forest campaign.

In 1934, he started working as a substitute clerk-carrier at the Kalispell post office. In 1935, an opening occurred in the Missoula office and John and his family moved to Missoula. He retired from the postal service in 1961, at the age of 68. He then went to work for Garden City News, retiring 16 years later at the age of 85.

John belonged to Veterans of World War I, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Missoula Senior Citizens, National Association of Retired Federal Employees, and the Mendelssohn Club.

John loved and was very concerned about the church, holding many offices. He sang for many years in the choir and attended every Sunday until the last few months. At the time of his death, he was an elder emeritus. He was very instrumental in the building of the church on Russell Street.

John was preceded in death by his wife, Marie; his daughter, Lois; and a sister, Gertrude Dixon.

He is survived by his three sons, John and his wife, Joan, Howard and his wife, Charlotte, and Harold and his wife, Mildred, all of Missoula; and a sister, R. Louise Hanger, of Kalispell; three grandchildren, Nance McIntyre of Casper, Wyo., John C. Hanger of Atlanta, Ga., and Julie Hainline of Missoula; and five great-grandchildren. He also is survived by his loyal caregiver, Claudia Woolsey.

Visitation will be until 8 p.m. today at Squires, Simmons and Carr Funeral Home in Missoula. Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at First Christian Church in Missoula, with the Rev. Dan Dixon officiating. Burial will be at the Missoula City Cemetery.

The family suggests memorials to First Christian Church of Missoula, "Hanger Family Endowment," which is used for general education and youth activities sponsored or conducted by the church, 2701 Russell St., Missoula, MT 59801.

Beatrice Head, 81

Beatrice Head, 81, a long-time Missoula educator, died Nov. 29, 1994, at her home in Troy. She was born to Daniel and Irene MacFarlane on Feb. 14, 1913, at Antler, North Dakota, and was raised and educated there, later teaching in one-room schools in that area. She received teachers' training at Minot, N. D.

In the mid-1930s, the family came to Missoula to be near the University of Montana. She taught school at Alberton and later at Kodiak, Alaska, during World War II. She married Ira M. Head in Kodiak. She received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Montana in the mid-1950s and taught in the Missoula school system until her retirement in 1973. During that time she also earned a masters degree in education from the University of Montana, as well as receiving training in and teaching of the hearing impaired.

She later moved to Rock Springs, Wyo., teaching at Western Wyoming State College. While teaching there, she worked with early childhood education students and the college's day-care program. Retiring again in 1980, she, along with her husband and mother, returned to Missoula where she resided until moving to Troy in 1987 to be near her newest granddaughter. She was preceded in death by her husband Ira, her parents and a brother, Don MacFarlane.

She had been an active member of Alpha Delta Kappa, the Retired Teachers Association, the First Presbyterian Church of Missoula, the Troy United Methodist Church as well as serving on the board of the Missoula YWCA. Because she touched so many lives with tender loving care, patience, a listening ear and gently humor, she is fondly remembered by many of her former students.

Survivors include two daughter, Jeannine Walter of Billings and Kimberly Finley of Troy; her sons-in-law and in love, Galen Walter and George Finley; four grandchildren, Robyn and Gretta Walter, and Laura and Madeline Finley; cousins Glenn Manning of Missoula and Dan MacFarlane of Silverton, Ore.; a sister-in-law, Madge MacFarlane and niece Judy Everett, both of Missoula.

Services were Dec. 2 at the Troy United Methodist Church with Rev. Dick Marine officiating. Graveside committal services were Dec. 3 at Sunset Memorial Cemetery in Missoula. A memorial service was held Dec. 3 at the First Presbyterian Church in Missoula with Rev. Jack Oates officiating. The family suggests remembrances be made to the Troy United Methodist Church or the Lincoln County Women's Help Line.

George Heath, 91

George W. Heath, 91, a resident of the Kootenai Valley since 1918, died Aug. 17, 1994, at his home in Libby. He was born at Twining, Mich., on Sept. 14, 1902, the son of Wellington Heath and Olive Spencer Heath. The family had farmed at various places in Michigan including West Branch, Prescott and Charlevoix until coming to Libby in 1918 to work in the timber and lumber industry.

He worked in the woods for the Libby Lumber Co. until 1920, working in the company sawmill when the firm was acquired by the J. Neils Lumber Co. at that time. In the ensuing years, he worked in both the company sawmill and in the company's woods department, both for the J. Neils Lumber Co. and the St. Regis Paper Co. until retiring in 1967 following a total of 49 years of service. He married Blanche Skinner on Dec. 31, 1920, at Libby. In 1970, the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. His wife preceded him in death in 1981.

Following his retirement, he worked for H.C. "Pete" Remp, operating the Christmas tree yard for many years. He loved the mountains, trees and streams and the wildlife that lived there. He enjoyed many pursuits including deer and elk hunting as well as spinning tales of his adventures. He was an excellent gardener, taking particular pride in his garden, yard and home. His greatest joy was his family, his wife, children and their spouses as well as his grandchildren, loving life to the very end. He was also preceded in death by a grandson, Duane Nolan, in 1993.

He is survived by a daughter, Marjorie Nolan and her husband Dorman of Libby, two sons, Melvin Heath and his wife Margaret of Kennewick, Wash., and Gary Heath and his wife Pat of Battlement, Colo., two sisters, Marion Asch, Ptarmine, Ore.; and Violet McMaster, Wilbur, Wash.; eight grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and 15 great-great grandchildren.

1994 Emma Fredrika Hedman, 93

Emma Fredrika Hedman, 93, of Whitefish, died Friday, May 13, at the North Valley Extended Care Center.

She was born Dec. 4, 1900, at Wausa, Neb., to Peter and Fredrika Hedman. They later moved to Sims and Leith, N.D., and to Cumberland, Wis. In 1916, she and her family traveled to eastern Montana in a covered wagon and homesteaded on the edge of the badlands. After studying at North Dakota State Normal College at Minot, she taught in country schools near her home for four years.

In 1922, she moved to Whitefish, where she worked for Bell Telephone Co. For years she worked as a telephone operator in various Montana towns, ending her career as a telephone observer in Helena. In 1956 she retired and moved back to Whitefish to care for her aged parents. She spent her remaining years at the family home.

It was during this time that she wrote a book titled, "Plow a New Furrow," telling the story of her parents' life, from their exodus from Sweden through the hard years when they homesteaded in various places. It was also a story of courage, hope, faith and humor.

She enjoyed playing the piano, working in the yard, rock hunting, fishing, horseback riding and going on sight-seeing trips. She was a member of the Methodist Church for 70 years and sang in the choir for many years.

Survivors include sisters Helen Hedman, of Whitefish; Grace Young and Evelyn Stevenson, and her husband, Steve, of San Diego, Calif.; Lily Wells and her husband, Kenneth; brother Verner Hedman, of Whitefish; and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be at Austin Funeral Home in Whitefish at 11 a.m. Wednesday, with Rev. Susan Adams-Trembath of Whitefish Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be at Glacier Memorial Gardens.

The family suggests memorials to the building fund of the Whitefish Methodist Church or to the charity of the donor's choice.

Vivian Mae Claridge Herron, 75

Vivian Mae Claridge Herron, 75, of Kalispell, died Tuesday, Feb. 22, 1994, in Kalispell Regional Hospital from complications from pneumonia.

She was born May 12, 1918, to Joseph and Carrie Claridge at the family home at Bald Rock northwest of Kalispell. She attended school at Bald Rock and graduated from Flathead County High School in 1935.

Vivian married Iven Herron on Oct. 6, 1938, at the Christian Church in Kalispell. Two months following their marriage, they bought their ranch at Foy's Lake and lived there since, except for two years when Iven was section foreman for the Montana State Highway at Crystal Creek. Iven and Vivian just celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary in October 1993 with all their family present at the ranch that has been their home all these years.

They raised registered herefords and received numerous awards throughout the years. In 1979, Iven and Vivian dedicated a portion of their land to the county for the Iven Herron Park at Foy's Lake.

Vivian was a member of the Epworth United Methodist Church, where she was active through the Ladies Circle, teaching Sunday school and working on the youth council. She was active in the 4-H program and served as leader of the Foy's Lake Mountaineers for many years.

In 1979 she was chosen to be Lady of the Valley. She was a charter member of the local CowBelles Association and served on both local and district offices. She was also very active in Foy's Lake community affairs.

Her true love for playing the piano will be remembered by many, many local people as she loved to play for dances and entertained senior citizens at various nursing homes throughout the valley through the years. She never took a piano lesson in her life and started playing by ear at the age of 5.

She was known for her warm hospitality at the ranch and always had great cooking when visitors would stop in on a Sunday drive. She could throw a bale of hay, change irrigation pipe and tenderly tend her flower gardens. She had tenderness and toughness of a pioneer lady.

Her family was her life. She lived and breathed for her grandchildren as they came first and foremost in her life. She has left them with the joy of wonderful times and memories of her full cookie jar and piano playing for those special family times. She taught all the grandchildren to dance and love life to the fullest. Her love of music and life in general has been passed on and will forever be treasured.

She was preceded in death by her parents and six brothers and sisters, Lyman Claridge, Lance Claridge, Bernard "Bud" Claridge, Naomi "Bobbi" Wolff, Ethel "Toots" Grosswiler and Grace Christopherson.

She is survived by her husband, Iven, at the family ranch; two sons, Gordon Herron and his wife, Billie, of Herrington, Wash., and Dallas Herron and his wife, Sue, of Kalispell; one daughter, Sandra Marsall of Kalispell; seven grandchildren, Mike Herron and wife, Joyce, of Harrington, Kathy Herron of Spokane, Jeff Marsall, Tracy Wise and husband, Charles, Chris Herron and wife, Jody, and Julie Herron, all of Kalispell, and Kelly Marsall of Rapid City, S.D.; and four great-grandchildren, Trista and Tanaia Wise and Dalton and Austin Herron all of Kalispell.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday in Epworth United Methodist Church with the Rev. Marvin Northcutt officiating. Burial will be in Conrad Memorial Cemetery.

The family suggests memorials be made to Epworth United Methodist Church; the American Lung Association, 825 Helena Ave., Helena 59601 or the charity of the donor's choice.

Arrangements are under the direction of Johnson Mortuary.

Irene Herzog, 90, passed away Jan. 29, 1994, at Immanuel Lutheran Home where she had resided since Sept. 6, 1989. Irene was born Dec. 22, 1903 in Millersville, Ill. to Obie and Florence Spires. She grew up in Burlington, N.I. Irene married Carl Herzog on Aug. 10, 1922, in Burlington.

Irene is preceded in death by her husband Carl, two sons Dick and Cal, and one daughter Marlys.

She is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Lloyd (Donna) Rose of Walla Walla, Wash.; Mrs. Don (Carla) Fry of Kalispell; 14 grandchildren, and 21 great-grandchildren.

Memorials to Immanuel Lutheran Home, or charity of your choice.

Memorial services will be held Saturday, Feb. 5, 1994, at Zion Lutheran Church, East 8304 Buckeye, Spokane Valley, at 2 p.m. with the Reverend Carlson officiating. Cremation burial will follow in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Rail worker killed

5 July 1994
A Kalispell man who worked for Burlington Northern Railroad was killed in a train accident at a gravel pit west of Essex Tuesday.

Larry David Herzog, 59, was trying to stop a string of gravel cars from rolling off the end of the track when he was crushed between two cars, according to Flathead County Sheriff-Coroner Jim Dupont.

The rail cars at the gravel pit at Pinnacle had been unhooked from the engine and were slowly rolling toward a gravel pile, Dupont said.

Herzog was apparently on top of the train when he realized the cars would derail, Dupont said. He stood on the ladder of the third car and tried to set the brake, but the first two cars rode up on the gravel pile, and Herzog was squeezed between two cars.

BN workers called 911 at 4:44 p.m., and North Fork Quick Response Unit, the Columbia Falls ambulance and the ALERT helicopter responded. BN workers hooked up an engine and moved the rail cars to extricate Herzog, who died at the scene, Dupont said.

Alice Ruth Hightower, 67

Richard L. Hogue, 78

Richard Laverne Hogue, 78, died Sunday, Oct. 2, 1994, of cancer at the Brendan House in Kalispell.

The grandson of Bitterroot pioneers, Dick was born May 15, 1916, in Hamilton to Harry and Maude Hogue. He was the eldest of their four children. He was reared and educated there, graduating from high school in 1935.

He served his apprenticeship under his father and was working as a journeyman plasterer in Kalispell when he met and married Janet E. Jones in 1941. She preceded him in death on Oct. 7, 1993. They were married for 52 years.

Dick was inducted into the Army in 1942 and served with the 826 Engineering Aviation Battalion in the Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland and Central European campaigns during World War II. He was honorably discharged in 1945 and returned to the Bitterroot.

He started contracting plaster and stucco work in Hamilton and relocated his family and business to Missoula in 1955. He was an artisan/craftsman of the old style whose perfectionism shows in the many fine examples of his work in Missoula and the Northwest. He sold his business in 1985 and semi-retired and continued as a consultant.

Dick was a member of the Operative Plaster and Cement Masons Union for 45 years, a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason and a member of the First Presbyterian Church for many years.

George E. Holombo, 81

George E. Holombo, 81, died from a lengthy illness in Carlsbad, Calif. on Oct. 23, 1994.

He was born in Sand Coulee, Mont., on Aug. 13, 1913. In 1935, he married Virginia LaChapelle in Great Falls, and they later moved to Kalispell, where they owned Flathead Floor Covering from 1945 until 1981, when they retired and moved to California.

George was a loving husband and father. He was an avid outdoorsman, but he especially enjoyed the game of billiards. He was a lifetime member of both the Elks Lodge 725 and the Eagles Lodge in Kalispell. He was an active member of the Lanikae Lane Homeowners Association in Carlsbad.

George is survived by his wife,

His interest in his youth was playing baseball; in his middle years, fly-fishing, and after the births of his grandsons, they were his greatest joy. Each of them knows that "Papa" was their best friend when they were small, and a part of each of their fine characters can be attributed to his gentle guidance.

Dick was an honest man and a gentle man. He had innumerable friends. He always had time to stop and chat; he always had a smile to give; he was the first to help when needed. Dick is deeply missed.

Survivors are his daughters, Lynne Lee of Eugene, Ore., and Marcia Miesen and her husband, Mike, of Somers; his grandsons, Jason M. Bischoff and his wife Heide of Lexington, Ky., Mathew Hogue Lee of Eugene, and Bridger Bischoff, Somers; his brothers, Robert Hogue of Napa, Calif., and Melvin Hogue and his wife, Esther, of Portland, Ore.; two nieces; and a nephew.

He was preceded in death by his wife, parents, a sister and a nephew.

Cremation has taken place. Services will be held on Friday at 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 235 South Fifth West, Missoula.

The family suggest memorials in Dick's name to Flathead Hospice, 1250 Burns Way, Kalispell, MT 59901 for the loving care and support given to him and his family during his tenacious battle against cancer.

Arrangements and cremation are under the direction of Buffalo Hill Funeral Home.
