Arrangements are under the direction of Johnson Mortuary and Crematory.

1999 Laurie Callaghan, 51

Laurie Callaghan, 51, a 27-year resident of Olympia, Wash., died Monday, Aug. 16, at Capital Medical Center following a courageous fight with cancer.

She was born to Muriel Ryan and Raymond Callaghan in Townsend, and grew up in Columbia Falls. She graduated from Columbia Falls High School in 1966, and attended Montana State University, where she played basketball for the Lady Bobcats.

Following graduation, she began her teaching career in Yelm, Wash. In addition to teaching physical education, she coached the Yelm girls' basketball team. After two years, she moved to Olympia High School, where she taught PE and continued coaching basketball.

Besides her coaching accomplishments, she was an outstanding softball player and one of only five women inducted into the USSSA Washington Hall of Fame. She also loved golf, soccer, and volleyball, and was an avid fan of Seattle's professional sports teams.

She will be remembered always as a wise and compassionate person. Her gentle humor, common sense, and optimistic outlook made her a role model for countless friends, students, colleagues, and players.

In addition to her loving circle of friends, she is survived by her mother; brother, Raymond Jr. of Fargo, N.D.; two sisters, Sharon Shafer of Whitefish, and Mary Kay Maykuth, of Helena; as well as six nieces and nephews.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the OHS Foundation — Laurie Callaghan Memorial, c/o Ginger Sarver, Olympia High School, 1302 North Street, Olympia, WA 98501.

Memorial mass will be held Thursday at St. Michaels Parish at 2 p.m.

Nancy Harris Calvin, 93

Nancy Harris Calvin, 93, died June 24, 1999, in Bakersfield, Calif.

She was born Oct. 18, 1905, in Payette, Idaho. After graduating from Whitman College and Whitman Conservatory of Music in Walla Walla, Wash., she taught public school music in Orofino, Idaho, and later in Spokane, Wash.

She married Oliver "Bud" Calvin of Orofino in 1937. They lived in Lewistown, Idaho, until moving to Somers in 1942, and then to Kalispell. They had recently moved to Bakersfield to be close to their daughters.

She was a member of Christ Church Episcopal in Kalispell, PEO, Flathead Daughters of the Nile, Kalispell Music Club and Alpha Chi Omega College Sorority, and she sang for many years in the church

Survivors include her husband, Bud Calvin, of Bakersfield; daughters, Gwen Letson of San Mateo, Calif., and Peggy and husband, Greg Goodwin, of Bakersfield; brother, Charles E. Harris of Colorado Springs, Colo.; grandson, Paul Goodwin; granddaughter, Kathy Kielty; and great-granddaughter, Hannah Kielty.

Private services are pending. It was Nancy's wish that any memorial donations be made to Christ Church Episcopal, 435 Second Street East, Kalispell, MT 59901, or to a charity of your choice.

Bud Calvin is currently residing with his daughter at 1808 Club View Drive, Bakersfield, CA 93309.

Bert Campbell, 80

Bert Campbell, 80, died Sunday, May 2, 1999, at the Kalispell Regional Medical Center.

He was born Oct. 19, 1918, in Helena, to Albert Ellsworth and Elizabeth Francis Girtle Campbell. He was raised and received his early education in Helena. He would have graduated from Helena High School, but the earthquakes of the 1930s destroyed the high school. He and his mother (his father had already died from a heart attack) moved to Portland, Ore., and lived with relatives while he finished high school.

After finishing school in 1938, he went back to Helena and worked as a printer at the Helena Independent. He was also a reporter in the evenings and started the first regular outdoor column there, not to mention covering sports. He married Marion E. Olsen on March 4, 1939, in Helena.

After World War II broke out, he was drafted into the 32nd Infantry Division at the age of 26. His company was the first to make a landing on the shores of the Philippines, and that's where he remained for the rest of the war. After the war he was hospitalized in Yokohama, Japan, with a case of malaria. He received orders to report to the military publication of the Pacific Stars and Stripes when he recovered. He worked as a reporter there for four months until he was discharged in 1947.

After his discharge he returned to the Seattle area where he joined the Asbestos Workers Local 7 and worked in the insulation business until 1968. It was then that he and his wife, Marion, decided to return to Montana. They ended in Kalispell, where he worked at Thomas Printing for a year and as an ad salesman. He also tied quite a few flies on the side. That endeavor was part of the reason he and his son, Bert Jr., bought Reed Sporting Goods in 1970.

After selling the store in 1975, they opened up a fly fishing specialty store, the Swan Fly Shop, in downtown Kalispell. They had it for three years and then sold it. He then worked in construction until he retired.

He was an avid outdoorsman, and enjoyed hunting and fishing, especially fly fishing for trout and duck hunting. He and his wife enjoyed the outdoors together.

He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ducks Unlimited.

He was preceded in death by his parents and is now survived by his wife, Marion, of Kalispell, and one son, Bert C. "Butch" Campbell Jr., also of Kalispell.

No services are planned and cremation has taken place.

Cremation and arrangements are under the direction of Johnson Mortuary and Crematory.

Clifford Wallace Campbell, 33

Clifford Wallace Campbell, 33, died Tuesday, March 9, 1999, at North Ashley Lake as a result of a logging accident.

He was born Feb. 6, 1966, in Great Falls, to Clifford and Walline Nash Campbell. He was raised in Great Falls, where he attended school, graduating from C.M. Russell High School in 1984. He served in the U.S. Navy for two years.

He married Michele Super on Aug. 7, 1993, in Havillah, Wash. He worked for several years as a commercial fisherman. He worked as a logger for the last five years.

He and his family moved to the Flathead Valley in 1998. He loved the outdoors. He especially enjoyed hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, boating and playing baseball.

He will be dearly missed by all his family and many friends.

He is survived by his wife Michele Super Campbell and three sons, Christopher, Cody and Donald Campbell, all of Kalispell; his father and mother, Clifford and Walline Nash Campbell of Great Falls; a sister, Janette Campbell of Great Falls; grandmother Lucille Nash of Chinook; father- and mother-in-law and their family, Donald and Kristen Super, uncle and aunt, Gene and Dorothy Hamley of Santa Rosa, Calif., an uncle, Bill Nash, and aunt Diane Greenly of Rock Springs, Wyo.; and godparents, Herman "Sony" Collins of Cocolalla, Idaho, and Connie Weston of Spokane.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Buffalo Hill Funeral Home. A memorial service will also be held in Great Falls at a later date. Buffalo Hill Funeral Home and Crematory is in charge of arrangements.

Homer N. Campbell, 96

Homer N. Campbell, 96, a long-time Libby resident, died Tuesday, Feb. 16, at Mountain View Manor Nursing Home in Eureka.

He was born Feb. 11, 1903, in Portland; to William and Millie Campbell. He married Irma Arnold and they were later divorced.

He married Stella Andersen on Oct. 2, 1934. He was employed as bartender and assistant manager of The Play Lanes and Bar in Libby. His wife Stella preceded him in death in 1988.

He married Leona Johnson May 4, 1992, in Libby.

Arrangements and cremation are under the direction of Johnson Mortuary and Crematory.

Sam L. Campbell, 76

Sam L. Campbell, 76, died Monday, July 19, 1999, of natural causes at his home in Kalispell.

He was born March 13, 1923, in Eugene, Ore., to Clarence and Waneata Campbell. He spent his early years in Grangeville, and Sandpoint, Idaho.

He joined the Navy in 1940 and spent World War II in the South Pacific, receiving several decorations including the Purple Heart. During this time he met his wife to be, Margy O'Malley. They were married Aug. 30, 1943, in Seattle. The family arrived in the Flathead Valley the summer of 1959, and maintained residence since then.

He spent his life in the woods as a sawyer for several companies, including Flathead Valley's Slack Logging, Royal Logging, and Plum Creek until an injury forced him into early retirement.

He was an avid sports enthusiast who loved to fish and hunt. He loved camping with his grandchildren, passing on to them the outdoor skills that he had honed. Later on, he developed a great appreciation for horses and would spend days riding in the back country. His greatest love was his family and especially his grandchildren. He was known lovingly by many in the neighborhood as "Grampa."

He was preceded in death by his parents; his wife, Margy; and his son, Rod Campbell; and is now survived by two sons, Lance Campbell and wife, Jo, of Sunnyvale, Calif., and Roger Campbell and wife, Paulette, of Libby; one daughter, Linda Blake and husband, Tracy, of Phoenix, Ariz.; one daughter-in-law, Kirby Campbell-Rierson and, husband, Ron, of Kalispell; one brother, Lyle Campbell and wife, Vernie, of Portland; 11 grandchildren, Greg and Shane Gibson, Rod and Kevin Dahlgren, Lance, Jennifer and Justin Campbell, Ryan and Abby Campbell, and Chad and Corey Campbell; also one great-grandson, Maxwell Gibson.

Margaret Fladmark Cavitt, 88

Margaret Fladmark Cavitt, 88, died Tuesday, July 27, 1999, at Immanuel Lutheran Home in Kalispell.

She was born Aug. 24, 1910, in Bonner, the youngest of three children born to Nelson and Katherine Ackerson. She grew up on the family farm and completed high school in Missoula.

She attended a year of teacher's college and taught for two years. In later years she taught as a substitute.

In 1932, she married Elmer Fladmark, a national park ranger. He was the chief ranger at Glacier National Park from 1941 to 1957. It was during these years their son, Bruce, was born. The family transferred to Joshua Tree National Monument and on to Yosemite National Park. Their last assignment was in Grand Canyon National Park.

All through the years of park service she was a gracious hostess whose kindness towards others was a special attribute.

In 1966, Elmer died and she moved back to Kalispell.

She married Wilber Cavitt in 1973. He died in 1986 and she lived at their home in Kalispell until 1995, when she moved to the Immanuel Lutheran Home.

Her special interests included hiking, traveling and sightseeing. She enjoyed playing bridge and her main focus was always on the well-being of her family.

She is survived by her son, Bruce Fladmark and wife, Maxine, of Kalispell, and numerous other relatives living both inside and outside the Flathead Valley.

Visitation will be Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Johnson Mortuary Chapel.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 11 a.m. at Johnson Mortuary Chapel. Burial will follow at C.E. Conrad Memorial Cemetery.

Arrangements are under the direction of Johnson Mortuary and Crematory.

Tom B. Chaffin, 80

Tom B. Chaffin, 80, died Sunday, Aug. 8, 1999, at his home in Evergreen.

He was born on March 15, 1919, in Corvallis, to Claude and Mary Bronlow Chaffin. At an early age, his family moved to Missoula, where he attended school.

After marrying at the age of 17, Tom and his wife, Ruby, moved to Spokane, where he learned to weld. After Ruby's death in 1969, Tom met Shirley Taylor and married her on Jan. 9, 1971, in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. They remained in Spokane until 1973, when they moved to the Flathead Valley.

Tom always enjoyed his early years in the Bitterroot Valley, but said his fondest memories were of the home on O'Neil Creek Road. He loved camping, rodeos and traveling, and he spent much time in the garage tinkering with wood projects. He was an excellent husband and father and will be missed.

He was preceded in death by his parents and a son, Richard Chaffin. He is survived by his wife, Shirley, at the family home; two daughters, Elaine DeRosier and her husband, Chuck, of Orient, Wash., and Vikki Bachurski of Bigfork; two sons, Smoky Chaffin and his wife, Cheryl, of Kalispell, and Larry Chaffin of Orient, Wash.; two sisters, Grace Carroll and Leotta Dewitt, both of Richland, Wash.; nine grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Cremation has taken place and there are no services planned at this time. Arrangements are under the direction of Johnson Mortuary and Crematory.

He was born Dec. 26, 1908, in Dearing, Kan., to Louis and Eva Chance.

He worked for Miller Motors in Conrad in 1955. In 1957, he started Chance Body Shop. In 1964, he acquired the Kawasaki franchise. He retired in December 1981. In 1983, he moved to Coram.

He was preceded in death by a brother and two sisters.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude Chance of Coram, five daughters, and numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Visitation will be from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Columbia Mortuary in Columbia Falls.

A funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Columbia Mortuary in Columbia Falls. The Rev. Patrick Pierce of the Lion Mountain Baptist Church in Martin City will officiate. Burial will follow in Woodlawn Cemetery in Columbia Falls.

Richard P. LaChapelle, 64

Richard P. LaChapelle, 64, died Sunday, Aug. 8, 1999, at his home in Fortine after a long battle with cancer.

He was born on July 26, 1935, in Sacramento, Calif., to Andrew and Nellie Usher LaChapelle.

He worked on construction at Libby Dam and also did different high-way jobs, log hauling, welding, millwright, mechanic and septic lines and much more.

He served in the Navy Seabees from 1955 to 1959 during the Korean conflict, receiving many awards for his outstanding service to his country.

He was an avid outdoorsman — he loved hunting, fishing and prospecting for gold. His foremost love was for his wife, Karen, and his family and friends.

He married Carol Ford in 1959, then married Karen Beanblossom on March 11, 1995.

Survivors include his wife, Karen, of Fortine; his first wife, Carol Ford of Rexford; his children, Dan of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Roger of Kellogg, Idaho, and Tina LaChapelle of Louisa, Va.; his stepchildren, Charlene, Doug and Joe of Fortine; sisters, Irene Hill and Blanche Connor of Sacramento; five grandchildren, one stepgrandson, and one great-grandson.

He was preceded in death by three brothers, Victor, Lester and Dempsey LaChapelle; two sisters, Mabel and Pearl; and his parents, Andrew and Nellie LaChapelle.

Military services will be held at the Fortine Cemetery on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Jack Newton Chapin, 74

Jack Newton Chapin, 74, died peacefully on Friday, June 25, 1999.

He was born in Emmett, Idaho, to Frank and Stella Chapin on Nov. 13, 1924, the fourth of five children. He was raised and attended schools in Emmett.

In early 1943, he entered the U.S. Army and served in the South Pacific theater during World War II. He was trained as a medic/surgical technician and was wounded at Guadalcanal. After the war he returned home and worked in his brother's dry cleaning shop. In 1949, he met Dorothy Bowman, also of Emmett. They were married on St. Patrick's Day in 1950.

Shortly after their marriage, he started to work for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation as a power house operator. In 1952, he accepted a position at Hungry Horse Dam at its start-up where he continued to work until his retirement as shift supervisor in 1975.

He and his wife moved from the Hungry Horse Bureau Camp to the Columbia Falls North Fork in 1958. In 1965, he moved his family into the present family home in the Columbia Falls Nucleus Addition which he started building the previous year. Besides working at the dam, he also owned and managed the North Fork Laundromat and Trailer Court for several years and, after his retirement, he also operated his own laundry machine service business for local housing developments.

He was preceded in death by his parents; one sister, Jean; and a brother, Frank.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy, at the family home; his four sons and their families, Michael of Columbia Falls, his wife Carla, and their sons, Michael Jr. and Christopher, Patrick of Thunder Bay, Ontario, his daughter, Holly of Glen Burney, Md., his wife Cathy and their children, Jessie and Wesley, also of Thunder Bay, Scott of Federal Way, Wash., and Phillip of North Seattle, Wash.; a brother, Robert and his wife, Georgia Lee, of Meridian, Idaho; and a sister Betty Walker and her husband, Ray, of Caldwell, Idaho; as well as numerous nieces, nephews, and one great-granddaughter.

He was active in Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite and Shriners. He and Dorothy were also long-standing members of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Columbia Falls. They both usually spent their winter months in Needles, Calif., and he had developed strong ties to that community as well. He always enjoyed fishing and hunting but was partial to golf after his retirement. He was, in fact, among his friends at the West Glacier Golf Course on Tuesday when he lost consciousness.

A memorial service will be held Monday at 11:30 a.m. at Christ Church Episcopal in Kalispell. A reception will follow at the North Valley Search and Rescue Building at the Montana Veteran Home following the inurnment at Woodlawn Cemetery.

The family suggests memorials to the Shriner's Hospital for Children.

Raymond Guy 'Chris' Chrisinger, 85

Raymond Guy "Chris" Chrisinger, 85, died April 19, 1999, at Life Care Center in Casper, Wyo., where he had been a resident for the last two years.

He was born March 17, 1914, in Kalispell, the fourth of five children born to Guy Lee and Bessie Cora Crouch Chrisinger. He grew up in Kalispell, graduating from Flathead County High School in 1932, where he was active in student government and sports.

In 1934 and 1939, he attended Colorado State University and the University of Montana respectively for one year each. In the years between his college studies, he worked at the Kalispell Mercantile.

His long military career began in June 1930, in the Montana Reserve National Guard. In June 1941, he was called to active duty. During World War II, he served in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater, receiving several decorations and citations including the Purple Heart.

While on duty, he met Brenda Patterson, an Army nurse. They were married on Nov. 7, 1943, in Honolulu, Hawaii. Following his discharge from active duty in January 1946, he and his wife returned to Kalispell, where they made their home until 1993. He continued to be active in the Reserve National Guard for many years, retiring in 1967, with the rank of Lt. Colonel.

In January 1947, he began working for the U.S. Postal Service as a letter carrier. A popular carrier with people and dogs alike, he received a citation for Superior Performance and an award for making a suggestion to the Seattle region of the U.S. Postal Service.

Following his retirement in June 1974, he and his wife traveled extensively and for a number of years, spent the winter months in California.

He was active in the VFW and enjoyed singing in the choir at Epworth United Methodist Church. He was a longtime golfer and an avid reader. He loved barbershop music and sang with the Flathead Valleyaires for many years. In his later years he enjoyed planting and tending an eye-catching flower garden which many people stopped to admire.

Following the death of his wife in 1993, he moved to Glenrock, Wyo., to live with his daughter. Due to health problems, he became a permanent resident of Life Care Center of Casper in March 1997. He loved life and had many friends. He will be sadly missed.

Survivors include his daughter and son-in-law, Judy and Don Weidner of Glenrock, Wyo.; three grandsons, Fritz of Pulaski, Wis., and Kris and Joel of Glenrock; a brother, Chester of Kalispell; a sister, Wilma Gilberg of Spokane; five nieces and four nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; his wife; a sister, Lucille; a brother, Cecil; and a nephew, Mike Gilberg.

A memorial service will be held on Thursday at 2 p.m. at Epworth United Methodist Church with the Rev. Bill Carlson officiating.

In lieu of flowers, memorials to the Alzheimer's Association would be appreciated by the family. Cremation has taken place and burial of the ashes will follow military graveside rites in Glacier Memorial Gardens.

Lawrence P. Christensen, 80

Lawrence P. Christensen, 80, died Saturday, Aug. 29, 1999, at Kalispell Regional Medical Center.

He was born March 1, 1919, in Racine, Wis., to Nis and Margaret Christensen.

His family were homesteaders in the Scobey, Mont., area, where he received his early education while helping on the farm. The family then moved to Round Butte outside of Ronan, where they continued farming and ranching.

He met Vivian Gleason in Kalispell, and they were married on July 21, 1962 in Kalispell. They remained near Ronan until acquiring a ranch in Creston, where they moved in 1976.

He never really retired; he enjoyed his ranch and getting away to town where he would visit with his friends at Sykes. He was a hard worker, and even though it was difficult work he really enjoyed his sawmill.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Vivian, in 1984; his parents; a brother, Roy; and three sisters, Katherine, Margie, and Hazel.

He is survived by his daughter, Laurie Christensen; and son, Scott Christensen and wife, Melody, all of Kalispell. He is also survived by three grandchildren and numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Johnson Mortuary, with the Rev. Dennis Masters of the Butte Assembly of God church officiating. Burial will follow at Lonepine Cemetery in Bigfork.

Arrangements are under the direction of Johnson Mortuary and Crematory.

Elvin E. 'Chris' Christopherson, 74
