

Travis James Ingram, 28

On Tuesday April 30, 2013, the world lost a phenomenal man, Travis James Ingram.

Travis was born Sept. 20, 1984, in Portland and grew up in Kalispell from the time he was born, and for those of you who knew Travis he was no "outta stater."

Travis loved spending time with his wife, Shilo Carrie Ingram, and his two beautiful little girls, Kaylena Jean Ingram and Averie Lynn Ingram. Outside of spending time with his family, Travis loved feeling the wind on his face while riding down the road on his motorcycle, along with fishing and camping.

Travis will be sorely missed and continuously loved until the end of time.

In addition to his wife and daughters, Travis is survived by his grandfather, Denny Ingram; his mother and stepfather, Lorelie Reed and David Reed; his father, Shawn Mayes; and his brother, Smokey Geldrich; and many more.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to the Travis James Ingram Memorial Fund, in care of Shilo Ingram, 393 Battle Ridge Road, Kalispell, MT 59901.

A service is being held in his honor for family and close friends. Please contact 885-2824 for service information.

Olaf Isachsen, 80

Olaf Isachsen, 80, peacefully passed away on Dec. 13, 2013.

He is survived by his daughter, Camilla; son-in-law, Pierre; and four grandchildren, Julian, Sophia, August and Gabriel.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Alzheimer's Foundation.

Gordon H. Iverson, 94

Gordon Iverson passed away on Aug. 6, 2013, in Spokane, at the age of 94.

He was born in Kalispell on Jan. 6, 1919, to Chris and Mary Iverson. The family lived west of town.

He married Betty Nauman in Kalispell in 1944, where he worked as a logger until he entered the Army during World War II. The family moved to Sacramento, Calif., in 1958, where they were employed, and also were active in the Lutheran Church and Sons of Norway Lodge.

The couple retired to Spokane in 1985, where they have resided since that time.

Gordon was preceded in death by his parents; two sisters, Bernice Managhan and Clara Hanson; and two brothers, Iver and Clifford.

He is survived by his wife, Betty; their son, Dennis, and his wife, Barbara, of Cincinnati, Ohio; one grandson, Chris, his wife Rachel, and great-grandson Frank Gordon, all from New York City; one granddaughter, Amanda, of Palo Alto, Calif.; and multiple nieces and nephews.

A memorial service and reception will be held at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 25, at Calvary Lutheran Church at Highway 2 East and Evergreen Drive.

The family requests no flowers. Memorials can be made to the local food bank.

Andrew C. Ivy, 88

Andrew C. Ivy, M.D., 88, died on Tuesday, May 14, 2013, in Eureka.

He was born Sept. 8, 1924, in Chicago. Dr. Ivy was the third of five boys born to physician parents, Emma Kohman and Andrew C. Ivy, after whom he was named.

Following in his father's footsteps, Dr. Ivy attended Northwestern University, where he excelled athletically in football and wrestling, and academically, graduating Phi Beta Kappa. After completing medical school on scholarship from Northwestern Medical School, he served as physician and surgeon in a MASH unit in Korea.

After completing his military service, he began a 25-year surgical practice in Honolulu, before moving to Montana in 1977.

Not one to retire, "Doc," as he was known in the community, began a life of volunteering and giving back to his new home of Eureka. In addition to his active medical and surgical practice, he helped organize the first Rendezvous Days, was a founder of Riverwalk, active in the Lions Club, and organized fundraisers for a number of causes to improve the community. He was a familiar face at the Eureka Rodeo as a promoter and raising money for new bleachers.

Anticipating the medical needs of a growing community, Dr. Ivy paved the way to secure a health-care clinic in Eureka by establishing North Valley Hospital's North Country Medical Clinic.

Dr. Ivy was preceded in death by his parents, Andrew C. and Emma Ivy; and brothers, Jack, Bill and wife Gerrie, and Bud and wife Shirley.

Dr. Ivy is survived by his wife, Hazel; daughters, LeeAnn, Patsy, Jolani, Nancy, Tawnya and Wayne, and Jana and Darwin; and his many grandchildren, nieces and nephews who brought such joy to his life; his brother, Bob, and Tabby; and sister-in-law, Shirley.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday, May 20, at First Baptist Church, Eureka, followed by military honors and a celebration of life at the home of Darwin and Jana Ivy, 1000 Iowa Flats Road, Eureka.

In lieu of flowers, a contribution in Dr. Ivy's name can be made to the Riverwalk Foundation, Eureka.

Arrangements are by Schnackenberg & Nelson Funeral Home in Eureka.
